A LETTER FROM THE EDITOR

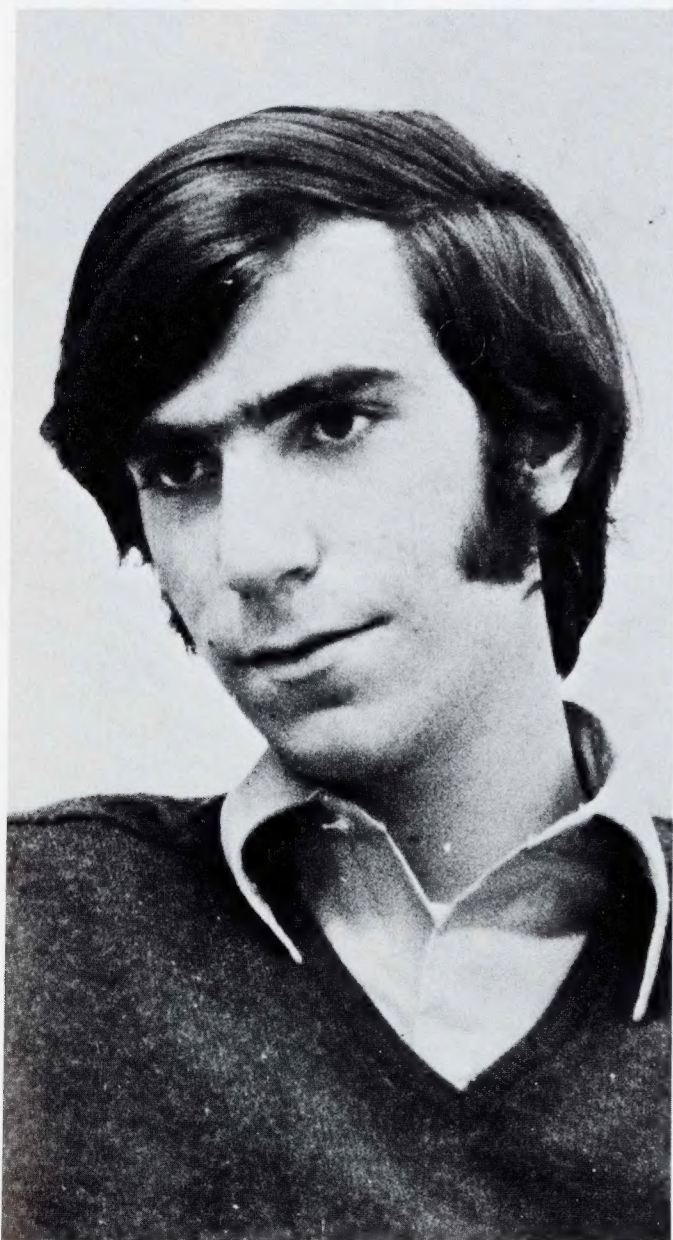

Putting together a yearbook for a large university will never be an easy task. It is always rewarding, often frustrating but never easy. But this has never really been a viable excuse for Sir George's traditionally passive attitude toward the production of Garnet.

When I was approached last spring by a group of members of the class of 1970 with the offer of editing a souvenir book for graduating students, I jumped at the opportunity. Time was short, staff was shorter, but Sir George would again have her yearbook.

And it's been a great few months. The experience was well worth the effort, and the feeling of achievement justified the frustration.

And so, the result of my labor—Garnet '70 is before you. Casual and candid, hardly stuffy or refined—but then, isn't that precisely the beauty of Sir George?

*Steve Halperin,
Editor—Garnet '70*

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

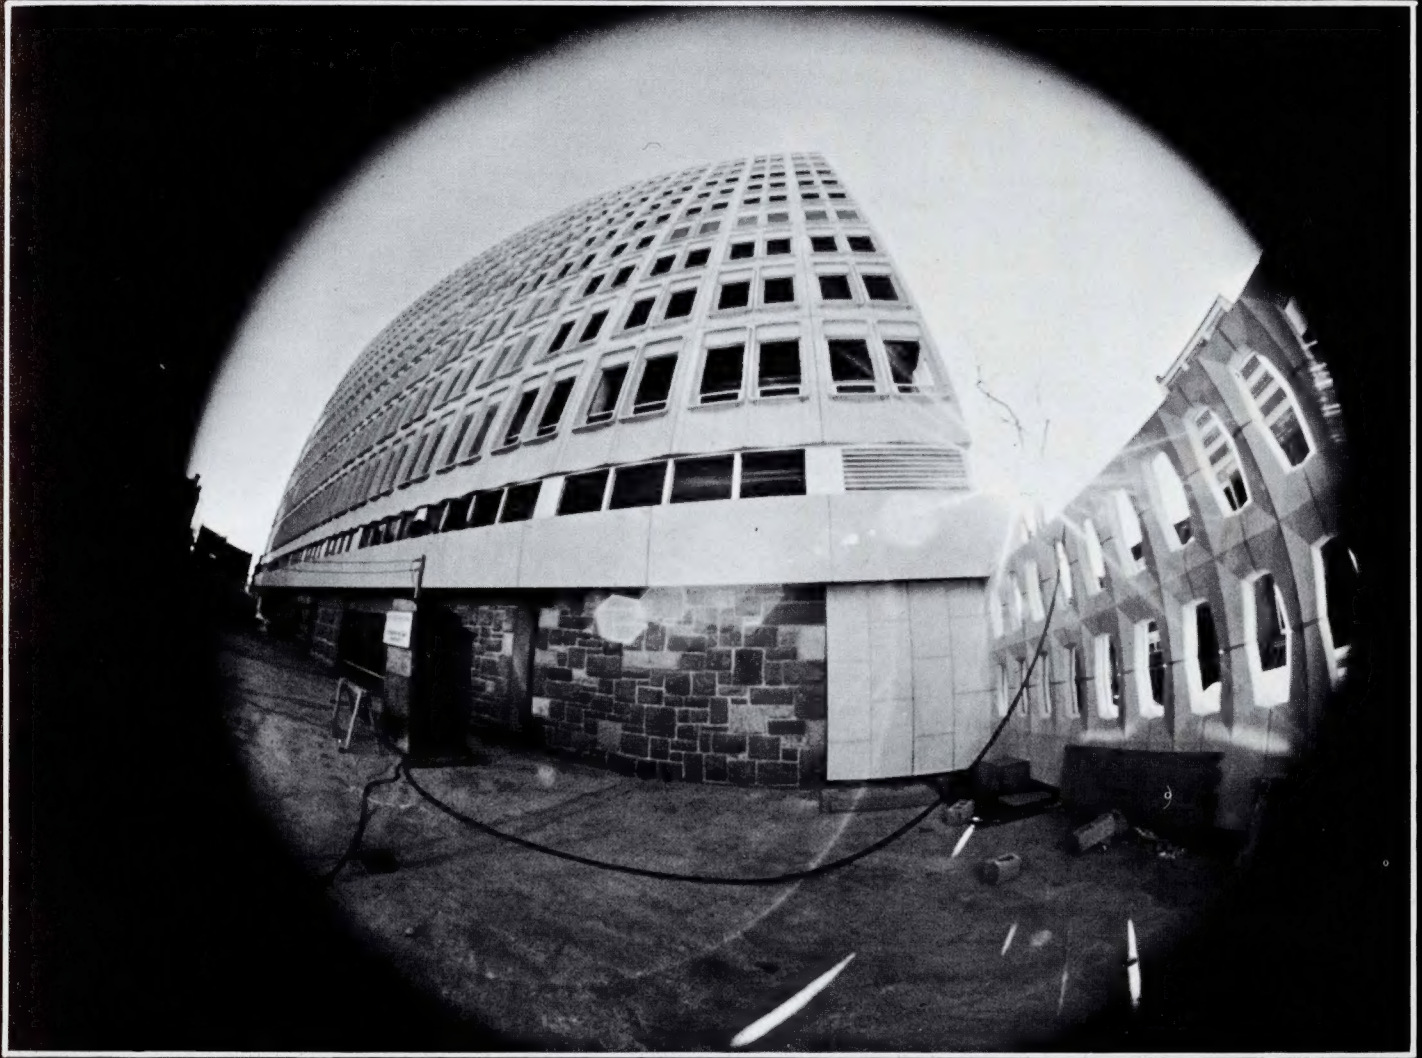

Dear Fellow Graduate,

On behalf of the executive I would like to congratulate you for a most significant achievement — your graduation from university. I know that today it is quite popular to depreciate the value of a bachelor's degree however before sharing this negative attitude we should consider those who have not been granted this privilege.

In this country there are still many aspirants who will never experience a university education. Those of us who have been fortunate to receive these benefits should apply ourselves to the task of bettering society so that in the future all persons will be able to enjoy an education to the fullest extent of their ability — not as a privilege but as a basic right.

*Sincerely,
Patrick Doyle
President, Class of '70*

Here, the sprawling solitary edifice,
Burdened with hesitant, nebulous cargo
Brooding, trapped between future and past . . .

Holding a billion complex words,
Ready to spew out with a pen scratch
"Pay to the order of sir George Williams University"

Eyes blur, still seeking pillow,
Gazing across pavement called
Campus,
As people stagger in from all directions,
And buses and metros unload even more,
Down Maisonneuve, Bishop and McKay
up escalators and staircases

Into classroom, library, lecture hall, caf

This is it.
This is Where it all starts . . .

FRESHMEN ORIENTAITION

Paul Butterfield Blues Band at Orientation Concert at Place des Arts

Orientation '69 consisted of two phases—social and educational. Chairman Barry Seidler and assistants Steve Schneider and Donny Rosenbaum initiated substantial changes to previous orientation programs. Throughout the summer, groups of freshmen were brought to the campus for a preview of Sir George life. Socially, Orientation offered students a diversified program of activities highlighted by a concert at Place des Arts featuring the Butterfield Blues Band and the annual ball at Place Bonaventure at which Gerri Pantel was crowned Freshman Queen.

WINTER CARNIVAL

CARNIVAL CHAIRMAN JIM LOUKAS

Carnival '70 ran into some administrative hassles down the planning stretch. After some internal shuffles, Jim Loukas emerged as Chairman. He did a commendable job in salvaging an event doomed to failure and transformed it into a moderate success.

Highlights of this years mid-term bash were the Place des Arts Concert with the Chambers Brothers and Lighthouse, and the Annual Hockey game for the Labatt Trophy won the Georgians over old rival Laval.

Nineteen year old Marguerite Senecal was crowned Queen of the Carnival at its opening ceremonies and reigned over the week long festivities.

FOOTBALL

The football Georgians entered their second season as a member of the Central Canada Intercollegiate Conference with great expectations for the dramatic turnabout of 1968's 0-6 disaster. The team ran into a long string of reversals both on and off the grid-iron and no great progress was made. The team once again failed in its bid to win but one contest. Despite the horrendous record, several members of the team performed admirably for Coach Phil Chiarella and staff. Among this elite crew were quarterback Jim Webster, Halfback Bob Bindon and linebacker Bob Daniels. Daniels, a fourth year student who hadn't played the game since high school was pleasantly rewarded for his fine play with a spot on the CCIFC All-Star team, as selected by rival coaches. Daniels is the first Georgian to earn this distinction.

HOCKEY

On the hockey front, Paul Arsenault returned from a one year absense to once again coach the Georgians through the Ottawa St. Lawrence League race. Arsenault was hard pressed to equal last season's second place finish in the national finals, and after a slow start, the team just managed to eke out a spot in the loop's four team playoffs. They lost to Loyola in the first round. One of the most bitter dissappointments of the hockey campaign was the failure of the team, for the first time in many years, to win at least one game from arch rival Loyola Warriors. Goaltender Tommy Anderson was once again brilliant in the Georgian nets, and kept the team in many a game. Other bright lights included forward John Murray and Rookie defenseman Mike MacNamara.

BASKETBALL

A new coach, Howard Nathan, directed the fortunes of the Georgian basketball team in 1969-70. Nathan, a former standout player while he was a student at Sir George replaced Fred Whitacre, who left the University to assume an executive position in the organization of the Montreal Expos. Nathan's method paid off as the cagers gained a berth in the league playoffs for the first time since 1966. Though the Georgians were eliminated in the first round of the playdowns, signs for the future looked good, Captain Jim Aitken rounded out a fine collegiate career with his finest season in a Garnet and Gold uniform. Others who contributed to the improved basketball scene were centre Dave Wilding, and Richie Campoli, a former OSL all-star who sat out one season before returning to the hardwood.

VALEDICTORY

VALEDICTORY ADDRESS

by

WARREN CURTIS HEALER

(697-2656)

Sir George Williams University

Convocation-June 1970

Members of the University Community, parents and friends. Traditionally, the valedictory address has been a Pilgrim's Progress of earnest young men and women through academia. My classmates, including those unable or unwilling to attend this ceremony, feel a more relevant presentation is imperative today. What are these more relevant strains of thought running through our minds at this time in human history, concerning our future, considering the past? We have several questions to pose, unfortunately few easy answers to offer. The truth is ladies and gentlemen, we have no time to speak of hills and valleys, when the hills are being defoliated and the valleys reddened with blood.

The most obvious question is what do these degrees — these symbolic pieces of paper that we have received — represent? For almost of all us, they are permits which allow entry into the established system. Each year this entry becomes more difficult and less desirable. First, why more difficult? In our society degrees become an access to materialistic gain the final analysis. The ideal of higher education is subverted as we obtain degrees just to be competitive in the growing labor force. Even the professors of our universities, who have said to hell with other occupations for which they are qualified, have been forced onto the commodity market to compete with their degrees in the "published or perish" syndrome. Notably, we see a greater number of people who are better educated. But the fact is, that the opportunity of higher education must become available to all human beings regardless of sex, color, creed, and economic situation. Thus the problem becomes larger not smaller.

Secondly, why less desirable? The answer is that the system has many exploitive aspects which are repugnant to us: we are bystanders to the needless rape of our environment; we are witnesses to the greatest economic disparities in North American history; my classmates and thousands of others who will graduate from universities across North America have had the horrid realization that thousands of human beings, as innately capable as ourselves, will suffer in poverty and despair until their deaths because of their lack of education and opportunity, their race, or creed; likewise we witness the distortion of scientific discoveries into vehicles of death, destruction, and misery; finally — and this is probably the most repugnant aspect of all — we are witnesses to the savage destruction of human life in the name of religion, country, and ideology. The obvious question is what are the causes of these undesirable features of our society? Some are as old as man himself and indigenous to him: greed, desire, treachery, mistrust. They are difficult or impossible to resolve. Other causes, however, are indigenous to our established social structures. It is these that we can no longer apathetically accept for they can be changed. We cannot afford to let the pieces of paper which we all cherish become passports for exploitation of any form in the future.

In the context of our times, then, how valid are our diplomas and what will be their consequence? Obviously, the experiences which are symbolized by these degrees will be as useful as we make them. The fact is that we all stand at a crossroads. As graduates, as enlightened individuals, do we recognize the concurrent responsibilities to mankind or just ourselves, our race, religion, country or reference group? Will the awareness and ideals with which we now enter this system become subverted by it in five, ten or fifteen years? The plain, frightening truth is that in many cases it is harder to enter and change the established system by its given mechanisms, than by revolution.

Every day a larger number of young people are becoming more aware and more dissatisfied with pollution, discrimination, and violence perpetrated on their fellow man. Consequently, much is made of youth's idealism and impatience by some segments of our society. These characteristics are exaggerated by those who wish to condemn youth. But in part they are true and let's be thankful. Answers of "patience" and "be grateful for what you have" no longer suffice. Let's look at some cold facts. Mankind has experienced a phenomena in the last two centuries which has affected him more than anything since his creation. These phenomena are industrialization, urbanization, and an ensuing technological development. The human being has created unfathomable weapons of mass destruction — he simultaneously stands on the threshold of creating life or altering it as we know it. Within the next two decades we will witness a staggering information explosion. Who will have access to this information and what individuals will be making the decisions affecting us all? Will the answers come from the same political and social processes and institutions existing today, which have caused humanity death and suffering in the past. These processes and institutions have allowed us the option of war as an ultimate instrument of politics. As we enter the decade of the seventies — this class of 1970 — we can see that no such option sanely exists.

In conclusion, this presentation is given not in the spirit of emotional optimism or pessimism, not in the spirit of any political perspective, but in the spirit of realism. Its thesis simply stated is that as technology out-paces social change there exists very little time for informed men and women to act intelligently on the many problems confronting us. Most of us here are war babies — our children will simply not exist as such. Only tomorrow will sever as an epitaph of our activities here today.
